Vice President for Programs,
Greater New Orleans Foundation

Maureen Lawless
Vice President and Director,
Member Services,
Funders’ Network for Smart Growth and Livable Communities
Place-Based Grantmaking

- Focuses on location/place, instead of program/service.
- Considers the unique local context, realities and trends:
  - Structural
  - Demographic
  - Economic
  - Environmental
- Uses a long-term approach with realistic timeframe.
- Prioritizes community engagement, collaboration, relationships and listening.
- Embeds an equity-centered lens (structures and systems).
- Is adaptive.

Pillars of Disaster Grantmaking

Resilience
Grantmaking should improve a place holistically to make it stronger than it was before the disaster.

Equity
Grantmaking should take historical inequity into account and inform investments.

Sustainability
Grantmaking should take into account a long-term view of an uncertain future.

Democratic/Civic Participation
Grantmaking should equip and empower the most vulnerable to influence what happens in their communities.
Place-Based Grantmaking and Philanthropy

- Opportunities:
  - To develop partners and relationships.
  - To inform practice.
  - To seed ideas, test concepts and facilitate learning.
  - For impact and measurement.
  - To address systemic, structural issues and outcomes.
  - To listen, learn and adapt.
Working with Local Funders

- For national/regional funders:
  - Identify community and place-based funders.
  - Discuss the local context
    - Nonprofit, community and grassroots leaders
    - Approaches to community engagement
    - Root challenges – systems, structures, needs
    - What’s worked? What hasn’t?

- Listen, learn, adapt.
Centering Community and Addressing Critical Needs

- Proactive versus reactive.

- Strategic coordination with government, nonprofits, and philanthropy before and during a disaster.

- Talk to nonprofit partners early, learn the landscape, identify anchor organizations, and critical safety net partners.

- Pre-register Community Organizations Active in Disaster (COADs) and Volunteer Organizations in Disaster (VOADs) for electronic grantmaking.

- Focus attention on organizations serving most vulnerable populations and ensure that leaders of color are engaged and supported.
To build and strengthen community foundation leadership and capacity to help create more disaster ready and resilient communities in a 10-state Midwestern region.

- Learning and leading
- Tools and technical assistance
- Grant resources
- Network health and stewardship
When Waters Rise

- An initiative focused on equitable disaster recovery and resilience launched, June 2018.
- Targets community foundations and place-based funders’ learning and exchange.
- Examines how local funders can foster and leverage equitable disaster recovery, rebuilding, and long-term resilience.
Q & A

- Submit questions using the Q & A box at the bottom of your screen.
- Use #CDP4Recovery to tweet insights.

Key Takeaways

- One size does not fit all.
- Begin by getting to know the community’s leadership.
- It is important to grant “quick” dollars for community development work.
- Stay for the long haul.
- Collaborate and build coalitions.
- Inequity can be reduced by a focus on place.
Philanthropic Response

- CDP and Candid are tracking philanthropic donations to this pandemic.
- As of May 11, the total donations received stood at more than $10.4 billion.
- CDP has a COVID-19 Response Fund that has awarded more than $4.6 million to date.
